b. [REDACTED] would be covered as a part of the Scientific and Technical Collection Developments on the afternoon of 17 February. As with propulsion, telemetry would also be partially covered in discussions regarding each missile in addition to the period scheduled for the afternoon of 12 February. In addition, the more detailed discussions are not of interest to the group as a whole, and therefore can best be done in working groups running concurrently with the main meeting.

c. In that most members are departing during the weekend of 21 February, field trips for 23 February could not be scheduled. If the time saved by the previously recommended changes are not sufficient for a trip on the previous week, the second trip could be cancelled.
